Reminder to sign up to receive email updates for QUT News

Welcome to the first edition of QUT News for 2015.
QUT News is usually provided in email form, however each year we send an initial hard copy to give new career practitioners the opportunity sign up to receive email updates.

If you already receive QUT News by email, you don't need to do anything.

If you are are not registered to receive QUT News by email or if you are unsure, visit www.qut.edu.au/for-schools and enter your first name and email address on the Stay Connected form.

We won't bombard you with emails—you'll receive five QUT News updates during the year, and a reminder about Open Day and scholarship application dates. You can also unsubscribe at any time.

You can easily share the email updates with colleagues and students—by clicking on ‘forward to a friend' at the bottom of the email, or by copying web links or stories into emails or newsletters.

If you have any feedback about receiving QUT News electronically—for example, whether the format works or if you have difficulties accessing content—we would be happy to hear from you. Please email comments to schoolinfo@qut.edu.au

We look forward to speaking with you and your students in the coming months. We hope many of you will join us at our Information Day for career practitioners on Friday 5 June at Gardens Point campus. Registration details will be sent by email in the late April edition of QUT News so make sure you sign up online for updates. If you prefer not to sign up, please visit the event website at www.qut.edu.au/study/events in late April to access the invitation and registration details.

Please don't hesitate to contact us if you have questions on 07 3138 8669 or schoolinfo@qut.edu.au

All the best

Admission overview 2015

QUT has made more than 11 000 QTAC offers to students for places across its three campuses for Semester 1, 2015, with double degrees proving to be a popular choice for school leavers. The Bachelor of Business at QUT was the most sought-after course, and demand for engineering and the health sciences, especially vision science and nursing was also very strong this year.

For the latest information on QUT's courses, including the new cut-offs, check the online course information at www.qut.edu.au/study
START QUT update
We recently welcomed 146 new START QUT students from 67 schools at orientation sessions across Gardens Point and Kelvin Grove campuses. School contacts will receive advice on the students enrolled from their school by the end of February. Semester 2 applications for START QUT will open on 1 March, and close on 16 May 2015. Visit www.qut.edu.au/startqut

Art Museum and career events
Events are held throughout the year for students, parents and teachers to participate in workshops, tours and career discussions about fashion and visual art. Visit www.artmuseum.qut.edu.au/schools

Business competitions
Students can participate in the Student Accounting Challenge and BlueShift: QUT Business Case Competition. For details check the news stories at www.qut.edu.au/for-schools

The QUT website
To find course and other information for prospective students, and a link to the For schools website, go to the QUT home page www.qut.edu.au, and click on Study, then select Undergraduate study, or bookmark www.qut.edu.au/study/undergraduate-study

Anatomy short course
High-achieving Year 11 and 12 students interested in studying medicine or allied health can enrol in QUT’s Pulse on Anatomy evening short courses. Visit www.qut.edu.au/short-courses and click on the Science and mathematics courses.

Campus tours and school visits for international students
Schools with international students can book campus tours or school visits for groups of five or more. Individual students and parents can also contact QUT International for course information or possible public tour dates. Email brisinternational@qut.edu.au or phone 07 3138 2862.
