Who we are

The Australian College of Applied Psychology (ACAP) has been teaching courses in psychology and related fields for over 30 years. We're passionate about empowering our students with the knowledge and skills they need to go out into the community and really make a difference. We have over 5,500 students currently studying on campus and online in the disciplines of counselling, psychology, coaching, case management, elite athlete mentoring, social science, and social work.

ACAP is a registered higher education provider and a nationally registered training organisation. Our psychology degrees have conditional accreditation by the Australian Psychology Accreditation Council, our Bachelor of Counselling and Bachelor of Counselling (Coaching) degrees are accredited by the Psychotherapy and Counselling Federation of Australia, and our Bachelor of Social Work is an Australian Association of Social Workers (AASW) provisionally accredited qualification.

Student Spotlight

Tess Sloane,
Bachelor of Counselling

"I was inspired to study the Bachelor of Counselling with ACAP because I wanted to make a difference. My goal is to work as a Relationship Counsellor, and this course is the first step on that path.

I have really enjoyed my studies at ACAP so far. The teachers bring their unique and valuable experiences and knowledge to class, and empathy and counselling skills are taught first-hand, not just from a textbook or in a large lecture. This creates an exciting and enjoyable way of learning and the small classes make ACAP a great place to learn."

ACAP is part of the Navitas Group, Australia's largest private education provider.
Meet Carolyn Chandler
ACAP Market Manager

Why is ACAP a great choice for students?
ACAP has been delivering specialist courses in applied psychology for over thirty years. We offer a broad range of courses including counselling, psychology, case management, social work and coaching. ACAP academics and industry professionals implement a practical learning environment with small class sizes that promote interactive group discussions and role-play activities. We also offer student placements, which allow students to practise their skills in a work environment.

What drew you to ACAP?
I was attracted to ACAP as it is a leader in the field of psychology, with a well established reputation for offering an interactive learning environment for students.

How can you help careers advisers?
I can provide information about our courses and the process of applying to study at ACAP. I can visit your School to speak directly to your students and answer their questions regarding ACAP. I look forward to working with careers advisors to promote ACAP as a first-rate choice for their students.
